

Job offer

We look for an expert in Microscopy with experience in High Content Screening technology to be in charge of the Bioimaging Unit in a new biotechnology company, Cellbiocan (<http://cellbiocan.com>). The company is mainly focused on the screening of antitumor compounds at different stages of development by Pharma companies using innovative biological platforms.

The candidate should have a degree in a biological discipline and possess at least three years of proven experience in confocal microscopy and HCS.

We offer incorporation to a new and dynamic company with strong financial support.

Competitive salary based on experience.

Send your CV to Luis Torre (info@cellbiocan.com) and we'll contact you for an interview.

